

Partnering Environmental & Education Resources

PEER Program

Air & Waste Management Association – Greater St. Louis Section

Who We Are

Air & Waste Management Association – The AWMA is a nonprofit organization of industry, government, consulting, and academic professionals that provides training, information and networking opportunities for professionals in the environmental field. The Greater St. Louis Section is comprised of AWMA members from the entire Metro area.

Partnering Environmental & Educational Resources – The PEER program is being formed by the Greater St. Louis Section of AWMA to create a resource of knowledge and experience of environmental science for students, teachers, and school district personnel throughout the St. Louis community focusing on grades 3-12.

What PEER Does

Career Days – Provide environmental, science and engineering professionals to participate in Career Days for individual schools and districts.

Mentoring Programs – Connect district science coordinators and teachers with industry professionals to develop relationships with schools and individual students.

Classroom Interaction – Provide opportunities for teachers to enhance classroom lessons and activities with individuals willing to share their practical experience.

Career Awareness Fair for 8th Graders – Participate in this expansive regional career fair to promote environmental, science and engineering careers.

Greater St. Louis Science Fair Judging – The Greater St. Louis Section of AWMA judges and awards prizes for environmentally-related science fair projects.

How to Contact Us

For more information on our program and how we can assist teachers and students in advancing and enhancing environmental science and education, please contact:

Joe Darmody, Education Chairman
AWMA – Greater St. Louis Section
1631 Headland Drive
St. Louis, MO 63026
joe.darmody@nnpenv.com
636-343-1300

